

Dear Boss,

I wrote you this note because there's something I've been thinking about pursuing for a while now.

I've found it challenging to get my best work done in the office lately, as I've been feeling uninspired and less productive. The innovation and creativity I want to bring to this company and our customers is fading.

After researching office dynamics and flexible work options, I've determined that I'd like to test out working remotely. Studies show remote work increases productivity, creativity, employee loyalty and more.

Working remotely isn't like going on vacation, it's a way to increase employee moral, creativity, performance and passion. It also allows for 'outside the box' experiences, that provide new market insights.

Did you know 93% of employees are more productive outside of the office, due to less distractions? And that companies save on average $11,000 a year per flexible employee. There are numerous benefits to flexible work.

I believe it's best to try this arrangement for a month, to see if it's the right fit for our organization and myself. In order to ensure I excel and manage working remotely from new environments, I'll be using Behere.

Behere (gobehere.com) is a flexible lifestyle service that helps women thrive in while working remotely. Behere takes care of everything involved with living in a new city, including private apartments, coworking spaces, fitness memberships, networking events and more. They have plans in place to help companies navigate the future of work and flexibility: gobehere.com/for-businesses.

I'd love to schedule a meeting with you this week to further discuss this opportunity and answer any questions you might have.

Looking forward to stepping into the future of work with you!

gobehere.com